To Whom It Concerns,

Following the final installation of the prefabricated stone paneling for the Walt Disney Corporate Headquarters in Burbank, California, it is my pleasure to write this letter of recommendation for Mr. Knaphus and the Kepco team.

From the beginning to end the people at Kepco showed a high level of professionalism and enthusiasm, working closely with the construction team to develop the prefabricated stone panel system. Kepco proved to be an invaluable resource for recommending appropriate techniques and detail for the fabrication and installation of the system.

The resulting quality of the prefabricated stone paneling reflects Kepco's attention to detailing, fabrication techniques and quality control as well as their sensitivity to the architects aesthetic concerns, while providing these services on a tight construction schedule.

This project utilized the prefabricated stone panels as well as field set stones. Kepco's prefabricated stone panels served to elevate and set the acceptable standards of construction which the field set stone was then to meet.

Throughout the development and fabrication process, Kepco proved to be an eager and able participant which, in the end, provided a high quality service while working with stringent aesthetic demands and specifications while at the same time meeting all budget and schedule requirements. It has been our pleasure to work with Kepco and we would certainly look forward to working with them in the future.

Sincerely,

Dan Shepperd, Architect
